

VEGEFEUER.55 wins gold at international spirits competition

For the first time a German liqueur won the gold medal in the prestigious San Francisco World Spirits Competition. VEGEFUEUR got the highly desired award in the category of herbal liqueurs.

The founder of VEGEFUEUR, Thorsten Wolf is proud. "This proves once again the high quality of our product and strengthens the international position of VEGEFUEUR".

The San Francisco World Spirits Competition was first held 10 years ago and is considered one of the most prestigious competitions for spirits and liqueurs. The jury of experts consists of people from the hotel industry, consultants and journalists. This year 1024 different spirits from 57 countries were entered into the competition.

About VEGEFUEUR.55:

VEGEFEUER is a clear herbal liqueur with 55 percent alcohol. The taste has a surprisingly complex character, is fresh, stimulating, diverse and enduring. Dominated by notes of mint, almonds, walnuts, vanilla and chocolate.

Whether in cocktails, long drinks or hot drinks as an ingredient of modern cuisine, desserts or main courses, on the rocks or as a shot, served burning, VEGEFUEUR is versatile and encourages bon vivants to experiment and to try.

VEGEFEUER is made in handcrafted elaborate procedures from an old, secret family recipe.
